

Piast at Symposium

The Piast Institute presented a symposium on Polish immigration and the story of Polonia at St. Joseph's Parish in Jackson, Michigan June 12 to June 19.

The symposium included four presentations by Dr. Radzilowski, president of the Piast Institute: "Present at the Creation: Poland and the American Experiment", "Polish Immigration 1860 - 1914", "The Formation of the Polish Community in the United States" and "Polonia Today, The Demography of the Polish Community in the United States". Each participant received materials prepared by the Piast Institute which supported the lecture topics.

The symposium was organized by Father Louis Maday, the pastor of St. Joseph's Parish and the new Director of Formation at SS Cyril and Methodius Seminary.

For more information on the symposium or to organize a similar program for a parish or organization, please call Ms. Virginia Skrzyniarz, Executive Director of the Piast Institute at 313-664-0321 or by e-mail at mail to: director@piastinstitute.org.
